BIOGRAPHY

From a small town in Germany to the underground stages of Istanbul — Findike's journey is one of pure persistence, originality, and music made from the soul.

Findike is the artist name of Emrah Findik, born on April 16, 1977 in Langen, Hessen, Germany. He returned to Istanbul at an early age, carrying his German roots while becoming one of Istanbul's most dedicated underground music producers.

In 2006, Findike opened FL Studio for the first time — installed it, deleted it, reinstalled it — five times. That stubbornness became the foundation of everything that followed. Serial production and rapid improvisation became his signature: over 400 original works crafted without ever imitating anyone.

In 2017 he founded Findike Records. Sub-labels Deep Poison Records and Dark Hooks Records followed in 2021. The label network is internationally managed from France by his close friend and family confidant Serge Sommaire — a friendship born through music when Serge flew from Tahiti to Istanbul purely to see Findike perform.

ARTIST PHILOSOPHY

"I have never imitated anyone. Low numbers, but original work. My music is my proof — the rest is irrelevant. Serial production and fast improvisation are my signature. I put my real soul into every edit, every track, every set."
